From the Desk of the President

FROM THE DESK OF THE PRESIDENT

Usually an incoming president begins his term of office with platitudes about realizing what a responsible job he is undertaking, he will do his best, etc. However, there is no time for such mental luxury at this writing. Take for granted that the above is true. That having been done, put it aside and let us get down to the facts of life.

For years it has been the custom of the members of this medical society to sit back and complain that meetings were dull; that there was nothing for the members to do; the council was acting in some secret manner to express and act on its own personal feelings, and did not represent the sentiment of the membership. This is a conception only you can change. It is up to you to read the actions of council, which you are now receiving, and to come to the monthly meetings to express your approval or dissatisfaction. If you are willing to let a mere handful vote for you, do as you have been doing—don't come! If you don't like that, then come yourself. Not only are you welcome, but you are needed. The more who come, the stronger our society will be; and the stronger we become, the less anxious will our enemies be to tangle with us.

On the day prior to this writing, two examples of our need for strength, for unity, and for desire to assert ourselves, were encountered. In the morning, an inspector of our residency training program readily admitted that we who are on the staffs of community hospitals are steadily yet quietly being downgraded by the representatives of the university hospitals. This powerful campaign has been in motion for some years and will go on unless we pull ourselves together to fight back—to overcome this effort by the professors. The most forceful agent to do this is the county medical society. A strong local society through the state association and the house of delegates of the American Medical Association can effectively fight. A weak society can do nothing, and we in the community hospitals can go down into educational oblivion within a few years.

The second item was found in the columns of the local evening paper. Here we were treated to an exhibition of doctors carping at other doctors. I do not go into the reasons for this. I merely wish to point out that when doctor fights doctor, the ultimate loser is the entire medical profession, and that the final winner will be those forces which are so busy downgrading us today. Let none of us feel so secure that we forget that today's numerical majority can quickly become tomorrow's emasculated minority.

In the previous paragraph, we see the campaign to divide "town" doctors from "gown" doctors. In the last paragraph, we see the effort to divide staffs into groups which can be wiped out one by one.

Let's stand together once more. Let us not permit internecine strife. Strengthen our medical society so that we are one and must be so considered in any action which affects our profession! —Harold J. Reese, M.D.

THE DANGER WITHIN AND THE DANGER WITHOUT

Whenever any group is confronted with an external threat, the immediate reaction of its leaders should be to make all the members aware of the danger. It may be trite but proper to state that to know and understand a menace is at least one half the battle. The first responsibility of a physician toward his diabetic patient is to educate him in the process of his disease. When faced with Cholera, the medical community must promulgate the epidemiology of the Bacillus. The former is an inbred and inherited illness while the latter is an epidemic.

Medicine is faced today with two diseases. The first is an external threat in the form of concentrated pressures for control of the physician from various areas and levels of the country which has been showing mitotic forms for many years but only recently has this attack been frontal, unabashed and invasive. Unfortunately the preoccupied, busy, grass-roots doctor has not seriously considered this danger and often times not even recognized it.

The second or inbred disease is an inborn error of metabolism which blocks release of energy bonds in the pathways which fire organization and action. The entire medical profession bears some stigmata of this illness but those who carry the greater responsibility of leadership must share the greater guilt. Negativism and the fine art of tight rope walking has kept us in limbo. The paucity of cohesive organization and firm positive action has made us easy prey.

Who is at fault? Leaders must bear the brunt of criticism whether it be justified or not. But where does the true weakness lie? Could it be that it rests with the plain ordinary working doctor who is too busy with his patients to care about what is going on outside of his examining room, or could it be with the doctor who is interested but feels that his voice is hopeless and keeps silent. Maybe the doctor who is more interested in his hospital affiliation than his own professional organization is to blame. Or is it the doctor who has been deluded into thinking his adversary is his own colleague.

What is the Rx? Our common bond is our profession as represented by the medical society. Hospital affiliations, Specialty societies and Colleges, volunteer service organizations, while serving their purposes, do not represent us and should not drain our energies.

The Community-based practicing physician far outnumbers any specialty or subspecialty group, medical center or government doctor. He is a slumbering giant who has been asleep too long. There have been signs of arousal in the year past. It is fervently hoped that the process continues even at the expense of shaking up the status quo or rattling some nerves. For the process of awakening may at times be rude.

DICK MODZELEWSKI SUBSTITUTES FOR FRANK RYAN

Because of a last minute change, Dick Modzelewski, defensive tackle for the Cleveland Browns, will be the speaker at the annual installation dinner of the Mahoning County Medical Society, Tuesday, Jan. 17, at the Mural Room.

The reason for the change is that Frank Ryan, previously announced speaker, was selected to play in the Pro Bowl game and will be in Los Angeles the night of the meeting. Frank Ryan suggested Modzelewski as being one of the most entertaining speakers he had every heard.

Modzelewski has just completed 14 years of pro football. In his college career, he was All-American at Maryland for two years; played in the Sugar Bowl, Senior Bowl, East-West and College All-Star Games, and was college line-man of the year. He has played for Washington, Pittsburgh, New York and Cleveland. He has the distinction of having played with eight Eastern Conference titlists in 14 seasons.

An installation ceremony for new officers, delegates, alternates and council members will be held. Dr. F. A. Resch will be honored as out-going president.

Members are encouraged to invite their wives and teen-age children to attend the meeting and hear Modzelewski. Cost for dinner will be $5.00 per person. Those wishing to come after the dinner may do so without charge. Reservations should be made with the medical society office.

Dinner will be at 6:30 p.m., following a social period at 6:00. The meeting is scheduled to begin at approximately 7:30 p.m.

TWO NAMED TO HONORARY MEMBERSHIP

Two members of the Mahoning County Medical Society, recently retired from practice, were honored by their colleagues. At the Dec. 20 meeting, Dr. B. J. Dreiling and Dr. F. W. McNamara were elected to Honorary Membership.

SEPTEGENARIANS ARE DUES EXEMPT

Members of the Mahoning County Medical Society who have reached the age of 70 are exempt from local dues and from American Medical Association dues. The medical society office notifies the over-70 members of dues status at the billing date each year. Dues in the Ohio State Medical Association is payable until actual retirement of the member, regardless of age.

YOUR ASSISTANT AND YOU -- PR TEAM

It is an established and indisputable fact that the best public relations begins at home—in the doctor's office. Therefore, the medical assistant, receptionist, office nurse, is an important person in shaping public relations for the individual physician and for the medical profession as a whole.

The AMA has produced a public relations brochure especially for medical assistants. It is called "Winning Ways with Patients." The public relations committee has distributed it to every member of the Mahoning County Medical Society. The committee urges you to read it and be sure that your medical assistant reads it. Ask her to keep it in her desk and review it periodically. Additional copies are available and can be had by phoning the medical society office, 746-8431.

About the importance of the medical assistant, Dr. Charles L. Hudson, president of the American Medical Association, has this to say: "... the typical doctors' assistant must be not only a good secretary, but a charming hostess, a courteous telephone operator, a smiling receptionist, a sympathetic nurse, a highly efficient bookkeeper, a skilled psychologist and a master diplomat." Every attribute listed by Dr. Hudson contributes to your public relations, good or bad.

"Winning Ways with Patients" concludes with the following advice to your medical assistant: "If you follow the suggestions of this booklet, you'll prove the perfect medical assistant—and after awhile public relations will be 'painless.' You'll carry on your work in the correct way without extra thought—and win the admiration and appreciation of the patients for both you and the doctor!" The public relations committee believes this to be an important and worth-while goal.

In Memoriam

DR. E. HENRY JONES, SR.
1884-1966

Dr. E. Henry Jones, Sr., died on Dec. 12, 1966, at the age of 82. His passing brings back memories of many things on the medical scene in Mahoning County, most important of which is the flu epidemic of 1918-1919, when Dr. Jones was County Coroner, a position which he held for six years.

Memories will be jogged again when it is noted that Dr. Jones received his M.D. degree at Starling Medical School in 1909. And again, perhaps only the old-timers will know that Dr. Jones, a specialist in Dermatology since 1939, had a long career as a General Practitioner and Obstetrician.

Dr. Jones was born in Homestead, Penna., on June 24, 1884. Moving to Youngstown, he went to Covington School and the Rayen School. He attended the University of Pennsylvania before going to Starling, now Ohio State University Medical School. He interned at White Cross Hospital in Columbus before coming to Youngtown to practice.

Following a hearing loss, Dr. Jones decided to specialize, and took post-graduate work in Dermatology and Syphilology at Massachusetts General Hospital and at the Vanderbilt Skin and Cancer Clinic. In 1940, he established an office in Warren. In 1950, his son, Edward H. Jones, Jr., joined him in the practice of Dermatology. Beginning in 1958, he devoted his full time to the Warren office.

In 1959, Dr. Jones received his fifty-year pin from the Ohio State Medical Association. In addition to the Medical Society, the OSMA and the AMA, he was a member of the American Academy of Dermatology, the Society for Investigative Dermatology, was a Fellow of the American College of Physicians and a member of Western Star Lodge 21, F. & A. M.

The physicians of the Mahoning County Medical Society extend heartfelt sympathy to his widow, the former Lulu Potts, whom he married in 1913, and to his son and fellow physician, Edward H. Jones, Jr. The most lingering memory of all was once expressed in an article from the May 1960 Bulletin. The writer said, "Doctor Jones is best epitomized as an unhurryable physician."

DR. MILOSAV PETROVICH

Dr. Milosav Petrovich died on Christmas Eve, 1966, at the age of 67. He was a senior staff physician at Woodside Receiving Hospital, having come to Youngtown in 1961 from the staff of the Mental Health Institute, Independence, Iowa.

Dr. Petrovich was born Nov. 14, 1889, in Yugoslavia. He was a graduate of the medical school of Belgrade University and became a specialist in dermatology and urology.

He was a major in the Yugoslavian Royal Army during World War II and was a prisoner of war of the Germans four and one-half years. Immediately after the war, he was a camp medical officer for the International Refugee Organization. He served as a ship escort medical officer on a ship transporting displaced persons throughout the world from 1950 to 1951. He came to the United States in 1951.

In addition to being a member of the Mahoning County Medical Society and the Ohio State Medical Association, Dr. Petrovich was a member of the Holy Trinity Serbian Orthodox Church, the American-Canadian Diocese, the Ohio State Mental Health Association, the Serbian National Defense Council of America, the Serbian Cultural Society and various Serbian patriotic organizations.

Carnation research and development laboratories announce the first optimum-nutrition infant formula

Optimil

This extended formula, completely compatible with the infant, has demonstrated its advantages over older modified-milk formulas in intensive clinical tests.¹⁻⁴

It provides:

OPTIMUM CONTENTMENT.

New Optimil's marked superiority in achieving satiety—reflected by infants' infrequent crying—is most reassuring to mothers.

OPTIMUM DIGESTIBILITY.

New Optimil provides protein, fat and carbohydrate in kinds and amounts more consistent with the infant's needs. Spitting-up is minimized and skin integrity maximized.

OPTIMUM GROWTH.

New Optimil's superior nutritional balance of major nutrients and their components provides highest caloric efficiency. Optimum protein and mineral content assures lowest renal solute load.

Optimil is recommended as regular feeding for optimum growth and development of normal newborns; as an ideal supplement to or replacement for breast milk; as sound nutrition for premature; and as prophylaxis against both essential fatty acid and nutritional iron deficiency.

Optimil, diluted 1 to 1 with water, provides a standard feeding formula—20 calories per oz. Supplied in new, convenient 16-oz. cans, Optimil is available for your specification at leading drug stores.

The complete Optimil system available to hospitals includes: 5% Glucose Water in presterilized 4-oz. disposable bottles • Optimil 13 calories/oz. Prepared Formula in 4-oz. disposable bottles* • Optimil 20 calories/oz. Prepared Formula in 4-oz. disposable bottles* • Optimil Concentrated Infant Formula in 16-oz. cans • Sterilized disposable nipples • Optimil Gift Pack: six 4-oz. disposable bottles of Optimil 20 calories/oz.
